This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the state of the prior art as set forth on the last full paragraph of page 1 of the originally filed disclosure (hereinafter, PA) in combination with Isakov et al. The PA teaches the frequency conversion laser with power supply, buncher and steady speed drive circuit. Isakov et al teach a telescoping arm which allows the laser radiation to be output in a variety of positions and is considered to constitute an angular rotation expander. It would have been obvious to the artisan of ordinary skill to employ the angular rotation expander of Isakov et al in the device of PA, since this allows flexibility of output position; to include a second lens, since this would enable the spot size to be adjusted, and to employ a semiconductor laser in place of the helium neon laser, since semiconductor lasers consume less power and have a more stable output than gas lasers, thus producing a device such as claimed.
